

City Training Center

Relocation

On May 24th, 2010, the City of San Antonio Training Center will be permanently relocated from 131 El Paso to a Building 277 in HemisFair Park. The new Training Center has been renovated to provide a high-quality and effective learning environment for all City employees. The Human Resources Department will continue to provide a wide variety of training opportunities and is determined to find new and improved methods to train the City's workforce.

Directions

City employees can travel to the new Training Center in three ways:

- By Car— Employees can park in the Institute for Texan Cultures (ITC) parking lot, which is accessible off of Durango Boulevard (Gate 2). This is a controlled parking lot and employees will need to take a ticket, which will be validated by the trainer. After parking, employees should enter HemisFair Park through the Tower of the Americas entrance and turn left at the Tower.
- By Streetcar/Trolley—The blue streetcar line stops directly in front of the primary HemisFair Park entrance on South Alamo Street (picture to the right). After exiting the streetcar, head directly towards the Tower of the Americas until you reach the Training Center on your right. Employees can access the blue streetcar in multiple locations along South Flores Street. The blue streetcar travels in both directions, passes each stop approximately every 10 minutes, and takes about 15 minutes to arrive at HemisFair Park.
- By Walking—Employees can walk to the Training Center in approximately 15 minutes from most downtown City facilities.
